Fillmore To Be Host For
Co. Council Of Churches;
Dr. Hartman Will Speak

Dr. Grover L. Hartman, Executive Secretary of the Indiana Council of Churches, will speak to a general meeting of the Putnam County Council of Churches Wednesday, Nov. 9. The meeting will be at 7:00 p.m. at the Fillmore Christian Church.

A native of Indiana, Dr. Hartman is a graduate of DePauw University, which also conferred on him the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters in 1962. He holds the M.A. and Ph.D. degree from the American University School of Social Science and Public Affairs in Washington, D.C.

After four years as head of the Social Science Department of the Sidwell Friends School in Washington, Dr. Hartman has served successively as the director of the War Time Services Commission of the Washington Federation of Churches, in the Federal Council of Churches Department of Internal Affairs, as Director of the Social Service Division of the Church Federation of Greater Indianapolis, as executive secretary of the Council of Churches of St. Joseph County at South Bend, and of the Indiana Council of Churches since July 1, 1959.

Dr. Hartman is past president of the Church Conference of Social Work and of the Indiana Council on Family Relations. He served three years as Chairman of the Governor's Youth Council in Indiana, and is now a member of the Commission on Aging and the Aged. He has worked extensively with courts and governmental agencies and has written for numerous national magazines. In 1964 he was made a Sagamore of the Wabash by Governor Matthew E. Welsh in recognition of his service to the State of Indiana. He is presently a member of the General Assembly, the General Board, and the Executive Committee of the National Council of Churches and is chairman of the department of Long Range Planning.

Dr. Hartman's theme at the local meeting will be "The Job of a County Council of Churches." He is expected to give specific examples of programs in other Indiana counties.

The November 9 meeting will begin with dessert at 7:00 p.m. Following the address, chairman of program areas for Putnam County will describe their work. These chairmen are Miss Martha Aker, Reelsville, Chairman of Christian Education; Mrs. Nettie Utt, Greencastle, Chairman of Christian Life and Social Relations; Mrs. Glenn Weliver, Greencastle, Chairman of Missions; and Mrs. Charles Davis, Russellville, Youth Chairman. The program, including discussion, will conclude by 9:00 p.m.

All interested persons and representatives of every Church in Putnam County are invited.

Open House At
Jones School

The Jones Elementary School Parents and Teachers will observe American Education Week November 6-12 by Open House on Tuesday November 8, from 7:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.

The parents and friends of Jones School are invited to visit their school at this time to meet the teachers and see exhibits of the work being done by the students.

AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK
November 6-12

What is the central and the most desirable attribute of an educated person?

In 1961, the educational policies commission defined the central purpose of American education as the development of the rational powers, stating that, "The rational powers are to the entire human spirit as a hub is to the wheel."

Thinking rationally is the ability of being able to analyze and to break down a totally new bit of knowledge or experience into its component elements and to relate it to an accumulated learning by perceiving relationships between the known and the novel.

Thinking rationally is the ability to solve new problems in new contexts by logical deduction or induction.

A man may know a great many facts about a lot of things but if he cannot relate them in a coherent unity they may produce chaos. The ability to think rationally produces order. It is central to everything a man knows and does.

We constantly are faced with new situations and many new problems to be solved. We cannot just reach back into a set of facts and, like a magician, pull out solutions without applying rational thought.

When we are able to think rationally, we realize that the division between academic disciplines has become less rigid, in that the total accumulated knowledge seems more unified and intertwined.

We live in an age characterized by the ever-increasing rapidity of change itself. An area affected by change is that of occupations.

Skills acquired today may not be needed in the future and we have no way of predicting what jobs will exist twenty or thirty years from now. If students however, can learn to solve new problems, relate clusters of skills to new demands, and apply general principles to many kinds of situations—in short, use their rational powers—they need not fear even the most extensive changes to come.

The ability to think rationally is very important to a person who wishes to live freely and intelligently in the modern world. The nature of our modern times creates an even greater urgency for the development of the rational powers.

The ability to think rationally is not something to be left only to the students of the highest intellectual caliber. It is a necessary adjunct to excellence in any endeavor, and it is within the reach of all students who have access to good education. In the Greencastle Community Schools we would like to think that factual knowledge is only a means to a more important end.

The factual knowledge is what is exploding. If the facts taught are chosen for their relevance to the individual and to society and then used as a basis to develop an ability to analyze, synthesize, and reorganize, our students should be comfortable with new facts and experiences encountered beyond the classroom. A student's rational power should enable him to acquire new learning all through life.

Difficulties arise when students spend their time at what they think is education, but absorb only the facts, which are merely substantive basis for education.

In his book on self-renewal, John W. Gardner wrote, "All too often we are giving our young people cut flowers when he should be teaching them to grow their own plants. We are stuffing their head with the products of earlier innovation rather than teaching them to innovate. We think of the mind as a storehouse to be filled when we should be thinking of it as an instrument to be used."

Education for rational thinking must begin in the earliest stages and proceed through all levels of schooling. It must be available to all students, not just those suited to a rigorous academic program. Every child has the potential to develop his rational powers. It is the job of our local schools to cultivate this potential to its most effective form.

Truly, education does add up—to rational thinking.

Take time out this week to visit your schools.

Cold Moves East

A cold weather system that stirred up the second winter-like storm in less than a week in the Middle West, moved into the East today.

Heavy snow and gusty winds buffeted the northern Rockies and northern Great Plains states.

Seven inches of snow fell at Livingston, Mont., Sunday and snow was reported early Monday from the north portions of

Nixon Calls
Secy. McNamara
'LBJ's Stogie'

NEW YORK UPI — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon Sunday called Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara "Lyndon Johnson's Charlie McCarthy, his political stogie"—and a bad one, at that.

Still stinging from President Johnson's attack on him as a "chronic campaigner," Nixon challenged the defense secretary to repudiate his "political" announcement that draft calls will be lowered over the next four months.

The former vice president appeared on a nationwide television interview program Issues and Answers, ABC-TV. Nixon was asked to comment on McNamara's statement of lower draft calls.

"I don't think the American people can believe that any more than they can believe him," Nixon replied. He added:

"Let me say this: Secretary McNamara when it comes to running the Defense Department is an efficient secretary of defense; but when he takes off his hat as secretary of defense and becomes Lyndon Johnson's Charlie McCarthy, his political stogie, in order to make a political announcement, then Secretary McNamara I think loses much of his credibility."

At another point, Nixon commented: "I respect Secretary McNamara along with Secretary of State Dean Rusk as the two ablest members of the President's Cabinet. I have not been among those Republicans who have criticized either of them and have called for McNamara's resignation."

"But let me say this, that I think that Lyndon Johnson by bringing Secretary McNamara down to the ranch and then using him as a political prop, that he has impaired the integrity of the program a complete success."

Home From Viet

Fred Ritchie arrived in Greencastle Friday from Saigon, South Viet Nam, after seven years of government service there under the U.S. State Department, as an economist with the Agency for International Development, in the Industrial Development Division. He is joining his wife and daughter, Virginia, who came here a year ago to take up residence in Greencastle, following evacuation of American dependents from Saigon.

Mr. Ritchie made the trip from the Orient on the USS President Wilson, with stopovers in Hong Kong, Tokyo, Honolulu, and San Francisco, followed by ten days in Washington, D.C., for consultation and business before coming to Greencastle.

State 4-H Contest Winner

Sandy Sibbitt, left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sibbitt, Rural Route 1, Fillmore, is the state winner of the 4-H Home Furnishing Achievement contest. To win this S&H Green Stamp sponsored contest, Sandy compiled a 7½-pound achievement record book and competed against winners in each of the 92 Indiana counties. Sandy was guest of honor at a banquet held at DePauw University and on November 26 will visit the National 4-H Club Congress where her achievement record will be judged for national 4-H awards.

Safety Program

Richard Ayre, safety coordinator for Putnam County in the Child Safety Program, was the featured speaker at the November 3 Greencastle Optimist Club Meeting.

Mr. Ayre discussed the reasons for starting such a program in Putnam County. He said that there were over 6,000 children in the county that could benefit from such a program. The speaker showed samples of safety books on various subjects to be presented to children on all grade levels.

He also said that the program would cost approximately forty cents per child per year. In closing, Mr. Ayre said that a few more sponsors are still needed throughout the County to make the money raising part of the program a complete success.

In reference to future Optimist International "Youth Appreciation Week" November 14-20, A youth appreciation week trophy award will be presented to a teen-ager at a special dinner meeting on November 17. At that meeting, each Optimist member will bring a teenager as his special guest. The club has also planned several special "gun safety" programs throughout the county.

Well Documented

DUBLIN, Ireland UPI — The University of Dublin, advertising in the Irish Times for a professor of psychiatry, reminded applicants to be sure to "forward to the secretary of University College, Dublin, 150 copies of their applications and testimonials."

WASHINGTON UPI — President Johnson's top economic advisers say the nation's economy "is moving ahead at a healthy pace," but not as rapidly as last year.

In a pre-election report to the Chief Executive Sunday at his Texas ranch, the Council of Economic Advisers said that prospects for the future were excellent with indications of major improvements in plant production, new jobs, better salaries and construction.

But, said Council Chairman Gardner Ackley, "Recent developments in the economy are a cause for encouragement, but not for complacency."

He said that labor and management must continue "responsible decisions" to insure economic stability and, in the coming weeks, policies must be fashioned to promote steady growth "without inflation in 1967."

The council had nothing to say about the possibility of a tax increase next year, but Commerce Secretary John T. Connor said during the weekend that a tax hike is "certainly going to get serious consideration."

"We have to pay our bills," the secretary added. Connor said military expenditures were "fast outrunning" the decreases in government spending on the civilian side. He said this imbalance pointed to an eventual tax increase.

Connor made the statements in a Chicago television interview with WGN-TV.

Now You Know

By United Press International
Submarines have been called U-boats since World War I when German subs were designated by the letter U—an abbreviation for Untersee-boat, literally "undersea boat."

Putnam County and Indiana voters will go to the polls tomorrow in an off-year election, to cast ballots for congressional, state, and county officials.

The state tickets include candidates for Secretary of State, Auditor of State, Treasurer of State, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Clerk of the Supreme and Appellate Courts and state court judges.

In this county, interest is centered on the race for Congress in the new Seventh District with John Myers, Republican, and Elden Tipton, Democrat, as the candidates.

In the race for Joint State Senator, James M. Kirtley, Democrat incumbent, and Joseph W. Harrison, are the candidates. Democrat Harold W. Roeschlein and Republican John J. Thomas are seeking the office of Joint State Representative.

Samuel M. Conner, Democrat incumbent, and Ennis Masten, Republican, are the candidates for the office of Putnam County Clerk.

Virginia Mullis, Democrat, and Thelma Blose, Republican, are vying for Putnam County Recorder.

In the Putnam County Sheriff's race, Paul Mason, present Deputy Sheriff, is the Democrat candidate while Bobby G. Albright is running on the Republican ticket.

There is only one race for County Commissioner and that is in the Second District, but all voters in the county will vote for either Kenneth Knauer, Democrat, or Waldo E. Shoemaker, Republican.

James Houck, Democrat is opposed for County Prosecutor, as Alan Stanley, Republican, for County Surveyor.

Democrat candidates for County Councilman are Kenneth A. Shannon, Amos H. Hunter, William L. Mullinix and Harold W. Stewart. The Republican candidates are Edwin Brown, Charles R. Gilley, Jesse A. Williams and Norman Knights.

For County Councilman-at-Large: Democrats, Paul Murphy, Charles P. Rady and Paul H. Whitman; Republicans, Paul Frederick, R. Louie Hirt and Fred N. Thompson.

Prominent among the 16 pairs scheduled to play in Pittsburgh November 9th to 18th for berths on the 1967 North American team are Ivan Erdos, of Los Angeles, and Tobias Stone, of New York, who recently won the World rubber bridge championship in a tournament held at the Sands Hotel, Las Vegas. The Erdos-Stone style is shown in a hand they played in Louisville last spring in the contest for the Vanderbilt Cup.

Stone's double of one heart was a conventional bid used by a few high-ranking experts to show moderate strength, usually in the unbid suits. (In standard bidding, this double would be for penalties.)

East should have bid five hearts instead of making his obviously phony jump to four notrump. East's lapse allowed Erdos to bid five hearts, which instructed North to bid a slam in anything but hearts.

Erdos had no trouble scoring 1,390 points for making six diamonds with an overtrick. He ruffed the opening lead, drew two rounds of trumps with the ace and king, and then cashed the three top spades.

SAFE MANEUVER
This maneuver would be safe if each opponent had three spades. If the spades broke in any other manner declarer's only chance to avoid the loss of a spade was that the opponent with length in spades also had the last outstanding trump. This turned out to be the case. Erdos ruffed his last spade in dummy, returned to his hand with a club and drew West's last trump. Since West was sure to be short in clubs (he had bid hearts, and had shown up with four spades and three trumps), Erdos led a club to dummy's ace and then took the marked finesse through East's jack of clubs to take an overtrick.

The combination of highly scientific bidding and very accurate play of the cards may land this pair a berth on the 1967 team.

DAILY QUESTION
Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player bids one heart. You hold: S-9 8 5; H-7 3 2; D-K Q 4; C-A 10 7 4. What do you say?
Answer: Using standard bidding methods, raise to two diamonds. You would like it better if you had a fourth diamond, but you cannot always be dealt a "book" hand for your bid.

Chinese Snub Moscow Parade

MOSCOW UPI — Communist Chinese diplomats walked out today at the Red Square military parade honoring the 49th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution. Thousands of Soviet citizens witnessed the snub — the sharpest yet in the 10-year-old feud between the Communist giants.

The walkout came when Soviet Defense Minister Marshal Rodion Malinovsky accused Peking of "encouraging U.S. imperialism to new crimes" by refusing to join a united Communist front in Viet Nam.

It followed a 10-minute long military parade bristling with power.

The procession featured a block-long Intercontinental Bal-istic Missile that a Moscow television commentator claimed could "hit any spot on earth."

This appeared to be a restatement of the Soviet claim that the missile—known to the West by the NATO code name of "Scrag"—is an "orbital weapon of unlimited range."

The Red Square celebrations were televised nationally, but the cameras carefully turned the other way as Chinese Ambassador Chang De-chun, two military attaches and a translator left the diplomatic stands next to Lenin's mausoleum and threaded their way through the crowds.

They apparently had prepared for the snub and showed no hesitation when Malinovsky issued his ringing indictment from atop the mausoleum.

Soviet and most East European diplomats had staged a similar walkout in Peking Oct. 1 when speakers at Chinese anniversary celebrations berated Soviet actions.

Malinovsky also criticized American and West German imperialism, but the U.S. and German ambassadors had expected the criticism and stayed away from the ceremonies.

LBJ Keeps Busy Prior To Surgery

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. UPI — President Johnson set up a fast-paced talk-and-travel schedule today, topped by hospital tests in preparation for abdominal and throat surgery in a week or so.

With one eye on Tuesday's elections and the other on his impending operations, Johnson arranged to:

— Fly 140 miles southeast from his ranch to Cotulla, Tex., to the 200-pupil Welhausen Elementary School where he was a teacher 38 years ago, to give a speech on his administration's strides in promoting educational opportunities.

— Head thereafter by helicopter to San Antonio, 85 miles to the north, to undergo X-rays and laboratory tests at the Brooke Army Medical Center in advance of his surgery. Johnson hopes the operations can be done at Brooke, by the end of this week or early next week.

— Meet with Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, at the LBJ Ranch, and also confer with special assistant Robert Komer on efforts to promote pacification of areas held secure from the Communist Viet Cong in South Viet Nam.

— Sign more of the hundreds of bills sent to him in the final congressional rush toward adjournment — and have a comment or two on the remaining ones that fit into his Great Society program.

Johnson's visit to the Brooke Hospital at Ft. Sam Houston, stemmed from his own desire to have his surgery performed quickly and as close to his Texas home as possible. Brooke is about 75 miles from the LBJ Ranch.

Johnson announced last Thursday that, on his doctors' advice, he would be operated on "within 15 to 18 days" to remove a growth from his throat and to repair an incisional hernia in the area of his October 1965 gall bladder removal.

"We would like to advance the date as much as we can," the President told reporters Sunday at a surprise news conference in the Fredericksburg, Tex., City Hall. He had just attended church services in that community, 15 miles from the ranch.

"Now that we know it is going to be necessary," he said, "I guess the quicker you get it over with the better. I would hope that the doctors would agree to an operation somewhat earlier than we originally expected."

Alexander the Great, Louis XIV and George Washington had one thing in common — they liked ice cream.

Renaissance cradle's worst flooding in seven centuries. Some battled among themselves over muddy drinking water and threw garbage at the president of Italy.

The known death toll stood at 180 with hundreds more reported missing between the Alps and the churning Po. Avalanches of mud and water swamped dozens of mountain villages in the Alps and Dolomites.

At least 100 persons were dead and some 50,000 homeless and without food or drinking water in the northeast, the current target of the three-day catastrophe that has moved northward over the entire nation. More than 40 dead were reported in the province of Beluno, where several avalanches cut off dozens of villages from outside help.

The Po and at least five other rivers continued to swell above their banks and rampaged over thousands of acres of lowlands. Adriatic seawalls collapsed in many spots and seawater pounded the countryside.

tegrity of the office of secretary of defense."

Nixon was also asked his reaction to President Johnson's statement that "he (Nixon) never did really recognize and realize what was going on when he had an official position in the government."

The former vice president said this was "a personal attack which is not worthy of the President of the United States. Now let me say this: this attack isn't going to gag me... I was never one that could be intimidated by anyone and frightened even by the towering temple Lyndon Johnson."

Referring to Tuesday's elections, Nixon predicted that Republicans would wind up with a net gain of 40 seats in the House of Representatives.

Bainbridge Pointers Rout Rosedale in Opener 111-61

Bainbridge's Pointers started things off on the right foot last Saturday night by romping over host Rosedale in their season hardwood debut, 111-61, in a high scoring contest that caught last year's Putnam County champs blasting the nets for better than 500 per cent from the field.

The Pointers connected on 42 of 76 attempts while Rosedale could make good only 24 of 73 shots.

The Rosedale Hotshots, runners-up in the 1966 Wabash Valley Tournament, hit the Bainbridge crew with a full court zone press that the Pointers gleefully evaded and scored 31 points on during the first period. Playing their own version of a zone, but skipping the full court bit, Bainbridge held Rosedale to a low fifteen shots and 11 points.

Breaking loose with the ball on their characteristic fast break, the North Putnam team allotted the Hotshots only 4 points during the first six minutes of the second quarter and stripped the nets for 15 points giving them a command of 46-

15 with 1:59 remaining in the half. But Rosedale didn't take it lying down as they fired up and managed to drop in ten points before the buzzer ended the quarter while the Pointers tipped in a low three points that closed the half with Bainbridge leading 49-25.

Fired up themselves after a half-time break, Bainbridge came back and shrugged off their lowest output of the game (9-24 from the field) and made good on four 3-point plays to double the score on their Parke County host, 83-41.

Slacking off as much as possible during the fourth quarter Coach Pat Rady substituted his players and sent his team into a spreading offensive. Rady used the offensive to slow the game and give his boys only the best shots, but Rosedale went after the ball and forced the Pointers to score.

With 3:36 remaining in the contest Pointer Earl Coffman got the honors by flipping in a ten-foot jumper that gave the visitors a 49 point lead, 100-51.

Bainbridge out-rebounded the Hotshots 46-26 with Rossok and L. Steele leading the scoring attack collecting 30 and 27 points respectively. Herzog and Hendrix donated 15 and 14 points for the Hotshots.

Bainbridge will be idle until they tangle with Fillmore on the Pointers' floor November 18.

DPU Ninth in Cross Country

DePauw finished ninth and seventh in the combined Big-Little State cross country meet Saturday in Indianapolis.

The Big State event was captured by Notre Dame which scored 31 points. Ball State, Valparaiso, Taylor, Indiana and Indiana State finished behind the Irish in the reckoning for Big State honors.

The Little State, figured by deleting runners from Notre Dame and Indiana, went to Ball State which amassed 39 points. Behind the Cards came Valparaiso 57, Taylor 68, Indiana State 89, Vincennes 150, Indiana Central 160, DePauw 180, Wabash 219, Hanover 230, Rose Poly 255, Manchester 341, Franklin 351, Butler 378, and Anderson 378.

Charles Arnold, a sophomore from Longmeadow, Mass., was DePauw's first finisher in the Big State. He took 42nd place in a time of 21:43. Other Tigers and their finish were Dan Asmus 43, Dan Blaney 44, Kent Ober 41, Jay Walker 61, Dan Spear 66, and Steve Norris 81.

DePauw completes its season Saturday in the NCAA meet at Wheaton (Ill.) College.

The first thing Walt Alston will show his players in spring training next season is an official National League baseball. Then he will say: "Any questions?" At that, hands should go up all over the room.

Bob Goalby holds the PGA record for consecutive birdies with a string of eight in the fourth round of the 1961 St. Petersburg Open.

Indiana State Drubs Tigers, 30-8

Scoring half its points off DePauw bobbles, Indiana State tamed the Tigers in Terre Haute's Memorial Stadium Saturday, 30-8.

The defeat, DePauw's sixth in eight games, was the losers' worst in what had been a season of tight games. It left the victims with a 1-5 ICC mark, the same as registered by Valparaiso who will share the 1966 league cellar with DePauw.

Generating only 15 yards rushing in each half at State, the Tigers still can salvage a great deal of the campaign with a win in Saturday's 74th Monon Bell struggle at Wabash.

Indiana State scored the first time it handled the ball in Saturday's chilly encounter in the Mud Bowl. DePauw punted after the opening kickoff and Rich Bortone rammed it back down the Tigers' throats with a 38-yard return around the left side.

He put it on the 21. Three plays later Sycamore quarterback Ron Overton ran it over from the nine-yard line. The kick failed, but State had a 6-0 lead just three minutes into the game.

Five minutes later State was threatening again. Attempting to pass, Tiger quarterback Eric Lortz was tackled and fumbled. The ball was recovered on the Old Gold nine by Van Morrison.

Randy Payne scored on a two-yard gallop and Mike Hoke kicked the extra point for a 13-0 margin.

State got its final legitimate touchdown with 6:15 left in the first half. A 95-yard drive developed after a DePauw punt and was capped by Overton's 17-yard pass to Payne. A few moments earlier Overton had thrown a 54-yard gainer to Payne that moved the ball from the Sycamore eight to the Tiger 38 to keep the drive going.

Overton's TD throw broke an ICC team mark for touchdown passes (14) and it tied Overton with Valpo's Dave Lass (1963) for individual TD passes in one season at 13.

Hoke's kick made it 20-0 and that's where the score stood at halftime. DePauw's deepest penetration in the first frustrating 30 minutes was the State 37. There on a critical third down play Lortz slipped in the ooze, taking a seven-yard loss. He punted on the next down.

Unable to move on the ground in that first half, DePauw came out with the arms of Lortz and Breckenridge blazing in the second half. State still won the second half, 10-8, but DePauw completed 11 of 26 passes for 177 yards.

It was one of Breckenridge's misfires, however, that set up the next score—State's fourth TD. Defensive back Dave Lecklitner grabbed it on the Tiger 44 and Randy Payne ran it in 12 plays later from the 10. Hoke's boot made it 27-0 with 80 seconds left in the third period.

DePauw produced its two best threats in the last 15 minutes. The first one reached the Sycamore 15-yard line before a fourth down pass was batted down. The next time, however, the Tigers found scoring territory.

Tim Feemster's interception of Hoke's pass at midfield put the Tigers on the march. But first Breckenridge, who finished the day with 11 of 23 passes for 161 yards, was dropped for a nine-yard loss. He shook it off and ran off a string of completions to Tom Miller for 20, to Feemster for 10 more to the State 29 and Feemster again for the final 29. Breckenridge ran the conversion in, enabling DePauw to keep intact its perfect conversion record for the season of 16 for 16.

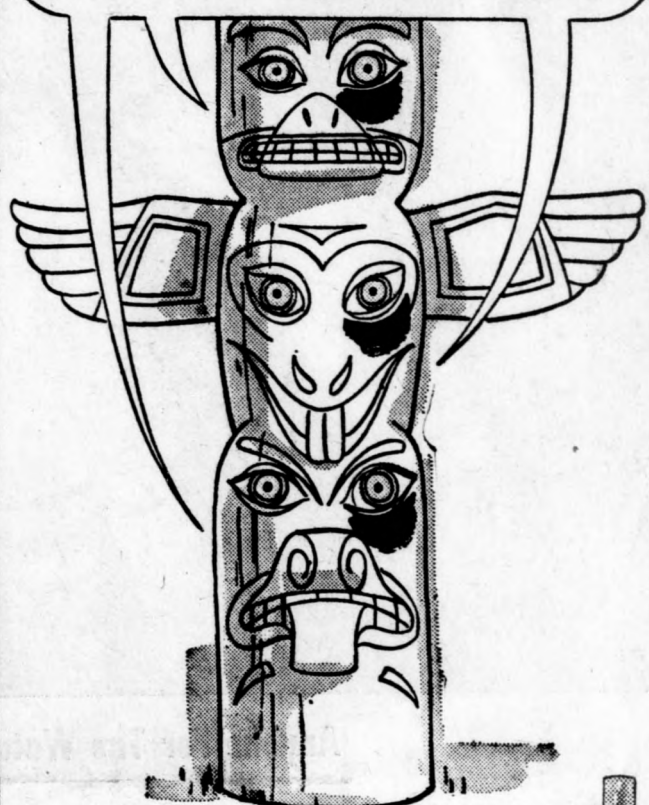

Sycamore guard Bob Attonito put a bear hug on one of Breckenridge's passes to set up State's final score. Attonito ran the theft 35 yards to DePauw's 20, where he was finally pushed out of bounds.

Two plunges at the line moved the ball to the 15. Then Randy Lynch dropped Overton's perfect strike in the endzone. Hoke finally salvaged the threat by kicking a 32-yard field goal with 3:15 left to play.

Both teams had 14 first downs, but the Sycamores led in total offense, 303 to 246. The winners, finishing the season with a 6-2 record, had 197 yards rushing to DePauw's 30. DePauw won passing stats 216 to 106. The Tigers' 41 passes were just six short of the ICC record of 47 throws.

The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON UPI —You'll never know what a big job cleaning up after Congress is. Not if you depend on me to tell you.

The reason is that shortly after the 89th Congress vanished into the night, disaster appeared.

Part of the crew that is cleaning up after Congress made a sweep through the House press gallery and, mistaking it for trash, threw away my most valuable possession.

What they discarded was my "rainy day file"—the material I had squirreled away to write about after Congress adjourned.

Foremost among the missing items was a fact sheet on what a big job cleaning up after Congress is.

Only someone in my line of work can appreciate what it means to lose a rainy day file. In my line of work, it rains nearly every day.

When I entered the press gallery that miserable morning and saw that the file was gone, I felt as though I had just been blizzited by a Cleveland linebacker.

A treasure trove of historical, cultural, intellectual, scientific and political data, painstakingly assembled over a period of years, wiped out. And not a dime of insurance.

By grim coincidence, the missing documents included a list of some of the odd things that other people have insured.

Also among the more prized specimens in the collection were these priceless papers:

A complete compilation of all the benefits—fringe and otherwise—to which U. S. senators are entitled.

A copy of a speech in which Rep. Paul A. Fino, R-N. Y., urged his colleagues to "stop pussyfooting around and use some horse sense."

A senatorial demand for an investigation of the Hawaiian nene goose preservation program.

An inventory of the contents of the cornetstone of the Rayburn Building.

And countless other records of equal scope, depth and variety.

The worst part of all is trying to get adjusted to working at a desk with the bare top sticking out. I could go out and buy a few reams of prefabricated litter, but it wouldn't be the same.

Rather, I must steel myself for a long-range rebuilding program. Once a person becomes accustomed to authentic clutter he is never satisfied with anything less than the real thing.

Cartoons Go 'Way Back

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) —The art of caricature, forerunner of today's cartoon, goes back as far as Aristotle and Aristophanes. There also is evidence of some humor in the art of ancient Egyptians, Chinese, Greek and other civilizations, according to Art Instruction Schools of Minneapolis.

Here's one of many reasons why there's nothing like a Gas flame for cooking at its very best:

only a Gas range gives you clean, cool, "closed-door" Smokeless Broiling

Broiling always creates smoke. But a clean Gas flame consumes every bit of it. Look to the right and you'll see how.

So, in a Gas range, you broil with the door closed. This keeps the heat inside the range. And only Gas gives your meat that wonderful, flame-seared outside which locks the flavor and juices inside.

Instruction manuals for "flameless" type ranges tell you to broil with the door partly open. Smelly, unconsumed smoke escapes into the kitchen, dirties the walls, soils the curtains. And unwanted heat pours out.

Why turn your kitchen into a smoke-house every time you broil? Do your broiling the clean, cool, smoke-free way —with modern, economical Gas.

Next time you're at an appliance store, or in our office, take a look at the 1966 Gas ranges. Ask them to show you how Gas makes cooking easier, more pleasant and faster.

Gas makes the Big Difference . . . costs less, too
INDIANA GAS & WATER COMPANY, INC.

Try this yourself and you'll see why
Gas Broiling is Smokeless

Hold a lighted match just above a smoking cigarette. Notice how the match flame "eats up" the smoke. The Gas flame in a broiler works the same way.

Over 50 Years Of Drapery Experience Behind Custom Draperies by Flair, Inc.

Draperies, of a sort, have been used by men since almost the beginning of time. They were used as ornamental hangings to designate important areas such as a throne room or altar. They were used to reduce chilly drafts in stone castles, and to seal doorways in Eskimo igloos. They were used to block the African sun from the chief's eyes. Draperies were used as partitions in community housing, to provide privacy for Chinese plantation workers.

In some way, almost every place in the world today, there is a particular use for some kind of drapery . . . and there always has been. So you might say there is nothing new about the idea of custom draperies!

Custom draperies are used today for about the same reasons, too . . . to provide beauty, warmth, shade and privacy. With the wonderful new fabrics, and some expert know-how, any home can have a combination of all these features!

Flair, Inc., 124 North Jackson Street in Greencastle is the place to go for custom draperies! Owned by Bob and Donna Eppelheimer, Flair offers a complete drapery service.

"We measure, make the draperies and install them ourselves!" says Bob. "All the work is done right here in our workroom. Our basic fabric inventory is about 10,000 yards of material, and we have the largest selection of samples in Indiana!"

From start to finish, the average custom drapery order takes about three weeks, if the material must be ordered. Bob Eppelheimer does all the installing himself, while Donna handles the bookkeeping and office work, and visits homes to show samples.

The drapery workroom at Flair, Inc., is a busy place. Pausing for a moment are, standing, left to right, Helen Murphy, owner Bob Eppelheimer, Lilah Hart and Lillian Abbott. Seated at the machine is Ann Foxworthy. The real secret of the remarkable success of Flair's Custom Drapery business is in the skillful hands of these experienced drapery workers.

pery business, Bob worked for 22 years in a large wholesale drapery company. He launched his own concern in Indianapolis, but after three busy years there, decided to move the company to Greencastle.

"We had a very good business in Indianapolis," explained Donna Eppelheimer, "but it was too far for Bob to continue commuting, and we didn't want to move our home away from Greencastle. Our family has lived here for 19 years, and none of us liked the idea of leaving . . . so we decided to move the business!"

"There is a real need for custom draperies here," she continued, "and we have really had almost more than we could do since we opened last March 1. "People are beginning to learn the advantages of custom draperies, and especially like them since we now have these wonderful new easy-care fabrics."

Among the new materials available for draperies at Flair is Dacron batiste, a washable, no-iron, beautifully translucent sheer fabric. Similar to the Batiste is another new material called Antron, also a sheer, but with a metallic thread that adds shimmering highlights to each fold.

Fiberglass now comes in both open and tight weaves and can look like almost any other fabric, with the added advantages of being fadeproof, wrinkle-proof, long wearing, washable and flameproof.

Laminated vinyl-and-fabric draperies are used by all the leading motels and hotels. Flair has just completed work on a large order for Holiday Inn of this type of material.

Flocked and printed sheer fabrics are in the news these days, and drapery materials are simply beautiful with this treatment. Brocades are very popular, but the antique satin assortment, as a whole is always the most popular. Flair has a big assortment of Waverly fabrics in stock.

For those people who do not want to have their draperies made, Flair will also sell the fabrics and fixtures, and offer any advice needed regarding measurements, materials, etc.

Two major hardware lines are handled at Flair; Kirsch and Graber. Included are beautiful hold-backs, rods and other fixtures. A very popular new installation is the ceiling track. Mounted directly on the ceiling, it allows a continuous, unbroken line for the draperies. Flair also carries an assortment of decorative trims to sell.

Cotton and satin lining materials are kept in stock, as is pleater tape and other accessories. Because in-stock materials are ordered directly from the mill, the Eppelheimers are able to offer lower prices on these items. They are glad to help in figuring the amount needed, too.

Four full-time workers keep busy in the drapery workroom at Flair; Anna Foxworthy, Lillian Abbott, Lilah Hart and Helen Murphy.

There is no charge for estimates, and Donna Eppelheimer will be happy to bring an assortment of samples to your home, measure your windows and discuss various drapery treatments. "Flair" means a feeling of style and uniqueness in beauty, and that is just the kind of workmanship you'll get at Flair, Inc! Bob Eppelheimer does all the installation work himself, and finished results are guaranteed to fulfill all the requirements of warmth, shade, privacy . . . and of course beauty!

Shopping 'Round The Town'

by DONNA BICKFORD

It was spitting snow while we were moving into our new house last week. The next day our yard looked like an Indiana Christmas card! The children were delighted, but I lost my courage at the thought of taking them all out to dinner. I was too tired to cook, even if we could have found the skill-let!

Call-In, Carry-Out

That was when we remembered the Double Decker's Call-In and Carry-Out system. We called the Drive-In at OL 3-9977 and ordered an assortment of basket dinner, a variety of fresh-baked pies, and some steaming-hot chili soup.

The Jacksons will prepare almost any dish on the menu to Carry-Out and they have the most extensive menu in town! The food is ready to take home by the time you get there . . . what could be easier? By the time we had the table set, the dinners were here. We sat amid the clutter of unopened boxes and enjoyed a feast fit for a queen!

We're going to try it again soon, whether we have a good excuse or not! Not only is the food delicious, but the prices are so reasonable. The Call-In, Carry-Out service must be wonderful for people who work and don't want to prepare an evening meal, yet prefer the comfort of their own home. One could call before leaving the office and pick up a hot meal on the way home!

Good, Fresh Milk

Another service I had good reason to appreciate this past cold, busy week was our wonderful Handy's Dairy routeman. We ran completely out of milk during the move and it was such a relief to see his friendly smile the next morning.

Especially with a house full of children do we appreciate the good flavor of the milk and other Handy's Dairy products. I never have to urge the girls to "finish your milk" these days.

We tried the new potato chips from Handy's last week, and they are so delicious with the Onion Chip-Dip the routeman suggested. I always like to keep a carton of regular sour cream on hand for fruit salads, baked potatoes, gravies and other good things.

You can make your own dip mixture from sour cream by stirring in a dry soup mix, or a little minced dry beef. It's great for a TV snack, or to serve to a group of intent Round-Puzzle workers.

What's a "Round-Puzzle" you ask? It's just like a regular jig-saw puzzle, except harder . . . and, of course, it's round! Books Plus just received a new assortment of Springbok round and square puzzles with Great Art designs, copied from famous paintings.

One of the most interesting square puzzles has a complicated motif taken from a Japanese embroidery Kabuki design. Another called "Convergence" by Jackson Pollock is guaranteed to be a brainteaser. Round puzzles include Della Robbia's "Virgin and St. John," Ghirlandio's "Adoration of the Magi" and di Cosimo's "Adoration of the Child."

These pictures are so beautiful, and the puzzles are so much fun to work that they would make wonderful gifts . . . at Christmas, or anytime. The puzzles contain from 325 to 500 pieces and cost $3.50 each. The round puzzles have a diameter of about 21 inches when completed, and take about an evening to work. No two pieces in any of the puzzles are the same, and they are often a real challenge to even the brainiest adult. When finished, they are pretty enough to frame.

Speaking of framing makes me think of the fascinating little gadgets I ran across at Metzger Lumber Company recently . . . including some small ready-made picture frames, too! Mr. Black has a big table under the front window, loaded with handy tools and odds and ends. Everything on the table is marked down to 99c . . . a saving of more than half on some items!

There are hammers, pliers, screwdriver sets, small wrench sets, paint brushes, drop cloths, paint buckets and all sorts of things.

I bought two handy clip-on utility lights, one for our sun lamp and the other for my husband to use when making household repairs. (Now I won't have to stand there and hold the flashlight while he works.)

Every time I visit Metzger Lumber Company, it is really hard to pull myself away! They have so many useful and interesting ideas on display. From now on, I'm going to make it a point to go to Metzgers first, before starting a project! They are always glad to explain a technique or suggest an answer to your problems. It would save hours of time and a lot of mistakes.

Poet's Corner

"A STUDY IN BROWN"

By RAY MIZER

The poets sing of brown October ale . . . And so might I, in other days and lands. The brown I really know is Buckeye brown, Along the banks of Wakatomica Or by the Tuscarawas, farther north. The buckeye has a gloss that one expects On hand-rubbed furniture, and even this Is heightened by the soft caressing touch Of restless fingers roaming pocketwards In patched and faded pants of Buckeye boys. The chestnut, too, is brown. It spilled at night From spiny jewel-cases, velvet lined. I know the brown of cider, and of stains That walnut hulls can leave. (I've scrubbed for days To get their stubborn brownness off my hands.) The leaves I kick are brown, and dying grass. The mice I interrupt raiding my corn Are brown. And when I sit alone Watching the winged wedge of geese drift South, Their distant lonely cry drifts on the wind, Squirrels bark in the trees; a bob-white speaks, Crows chatter; still I sit, Smelling the pleasant smell of distant fires. Not happy, surely, but not really sad. Stained through and through. Thinking brown thoughts in a brown season.

Contributions for the Poet's Corner may be submitted to The Banner for consideration by the Poetry Committee. Please include a stamped self-addressed envelope. All contributions will be given careful consideration, but space is limited.

Bainbridge School News

A new club has been organized and is arranging to become a local chapter of the national organization. These future teachers held their first meeting Oct. 25th to state purposes and to elect officers. The officers elected were: Pres. Patty Minnick; Vice Pres. Sharon Reed; Sec. Susie Scobee; Treas. Beth Hendrich; Historian, Mary Rayfield; Parliamentarian, Charlotte Osborn.

The advisers for the new F.T.A. are Mrs. Elless and Mrs. Scobee. These officers are only for the Bainbridge branch of the North Putnam Chapter, however.

The Bainbridge High School band is under the new direction of Joe Moores, who has added to the usual majorettes and drum major, a flag corps consisting of: Sandi Spesard, captain; Kathy Grimes, Jacque Roe, Linda Phipps, Sharon Little, Debbie Bunn, Patty O'Hair, Berniece Lancaster, Donna Steele, Gene Ann Unger.

Sandi Spesard was elected representative and Vicki Judy will be the featured twirler. We hope a large crowd will be in attendance to see these girls along with the band perform at our first floss show on November 18th at the Fillmore-Bainbridge game.

On Friday, November 8th, at 7:30, the band is performing at a pop concert to be held in the gymnasium. At this concert the Senior band members will be awarded their band sweaters. These seniors are: Carolyn Smith, Larry Clodfelter, Linda Houser, Sandy Witte, Benny Whitlock, Patty Minnick, Carol Inman, Sharon Branham, Vicki Judy and Maria Bilbruck.

Tickets may be purchased at the door. Refreshments will be served. Melinda Zenor will accompany the band.

Wednesday evening, Nov. 2, the band and chorus plus their guests traveled to DePauw to attend the concert given by the DePauw Orchestra. The band also plans to attend a performance in Clowes Hall on the Butler campus on Nov. 20th. Doc Severinsen of the "Tonight" show will be performing.

Backing up the Senior Band are 40 members of the Junior Band. Most of these students have been playing for one or two years, but there are several just beginning.

Majorettes include: Vicki Wallace, Sharon Branham, Becky McFarland and Vicki Judy, captain.

Drum Majorette is Maria Bilbruck.

The Sophomore Class is looking forward to an exciting school year which includes class rings which should arrive at Van Cleave Jewelers on Dec.

9th. President Patty O'Hair has divided the class into two teams for selling candy. In the first team Larry Wilson is captain and co-captain is Kathy Reynolds; the second team has Diane Ardelean as captain and Phillip Malcoat as co-captain. Much competition will be carried on between the two groups.

Librarians Lyn Farrow, Joyce Fitzsimmons, Patty Rossok, Shirley Harris, and Sandi Spesard, voting delegate for state officers, attended the state High School Librarian Association at Ball State University October 29th. The delegation was accompanied by Mrs. Hanna and four student librarians from Roachdale. At the luncheon meeting they heard the President of Ball State mention the fact that over nine hundred requests for librarians in the educational field had been made this year and they were made aware of the great need in this field. All enjoyed a profitable day.

New Warning By Red China

HONG KONG UPI—Communist China warned today that the Viet Nam conflict is only one of a series of Asian wars in which the United States will become deeply and dangerously involved.

A commentary in the official Peking Peoples Daily said this was because the United States is determined to destroy "all national liberation movements and struggles in Asia"—a move that will be countered on every front by China.

"A great Red power has already risen firmly on the mainland of China" and is the "revolutionary front and fortress for Asian peoples and world peoples in waging their peoples wars against American imperialism," the commentary said.

"Today's Asia will witness more and more peoples wars being waged," the commentary warned. "The American imperialists will encounter and become embroiled in more and more peoples wars in Asia in the coming days."

The commentary, broadcast by Peking radio, gave the most thorough Chinese assessment yet of the Manila summit conference and President Johnson's Pacific war.

"All the numerous words that Johnson spoke during his recent Asian trip," it said, "boiled down to the following three main points:

1. He is determined to destroy the national liberation movement of the Vietnamese people.
2. The American imperialists are determined to oppose and destroy all national liberation movements and struggles in Asia.
3. Under the disguise of words such as Asian and Pacific cooperation, the American imperialists are setting up an anti-China alliance. Therefore, the so-called Manila summit conference is only a new intrigue of aggression."

Sodium and sulphur are well known common materials but nobody ever knew how to use them together to get a flow of electrical energy from their interaction. This is what the ceramic does. It provides a barrier between the sodium and sulphur, but allows sodium ions to filter through, reach the sulphur and combine to make a sulphide. In combining, it generates an electric charge which can be tapped to provide useful energy.

Another Secret
 Another secret, however, is that the battery must be hot... very hot. Both the sodium and the sulphur have to be in a liquid state.

That means they have to be maintained at a high enough temperature to melt, and it means operating the battery at roughly between 500 and 600 degrees Fahrenheit. Ford officials consider that no problem.

First, when the battery is discharging while being used, or while it is being recharged from an outside electrical source, heat is generated which keeps the battery at its proper temperature.

Suppose you leave your car idle with the battery not in use. Ford scientists say the battery can be insulated so efficiently it could stand idle for up to 14 days at a time and still be at the required temperature to operate.

Will it be used in conventional type automobiles, merely being substituted for the conventional internal combustion engine? No, the scientists say that wouldn't be the best thing.

Ford now is designing and building a new car in England expressly for battery driving. It has also developed a new lightweight powerful electric motor to be used with it. And it is building more efficient controls. Several cars will be built; some tested in London and at least one will be brought to this country to be tested in traffic patterns in the Detroit area.

When the battery is built, it will weigh about 500 or so pounds, which isn't much different than present-day gas engines in cars. Right now, all Ford has are tiny batteries, about the size of a test tube.

But they're already planning to build a 22-pound battery which will have an output of about 2 kilowatt hours. That's 2,000 watt hours with a 22-pound weight, or nearly 100 watt hours per pound. Scientists say any battery with a power output of 50 watt hours per pound or more is practical for an electric automobile.
